

Abstract of the Disclosure

The flip chip package includes a semiconductor chip electrically connected to a circuit substrate. A protective cap is disposed over the semiconductor chip, and includes at least one portion extending beyond an edge of the semiconductor chip.